1. take your big old knitted sweater.

2. cut up the front. cut up a big hole at the neck and cut off the lower edge.

3. fold up the lower edge and make a hem.

4. pin the low cut-off to the enlarged neck hole - start pinning at the middle (by the spine) to make it even at both ends.

5. attach with a seam.

6. so it looks something like this.

7. fold inwards the over the seam you just made and sew the edge (on top of old seam)

8. fold the front sides so they meet the front edges of the neck. improvise a seam.

9. hold the knit wrap together with a big safety-pin.

10. it could look like this. now wrap up in remade ethnic authenticity.
